SHIPS BUMP IN FOG HERE

Fog caused ship collisions off Nahant and at Pemberton today involving four Boston vessels.

First crash occurred when the fishing trawler Dorchester and the Socony-Vacuum tanker China Arrow bumped each other between Nahant and Graves light.

A few hours later, the Nantasket-Boston steamboat Mayflower, nosing through thick weather at Pemberton, sideswiped the Boston Fuel Transportation tanker Lucy, loaded with 5000 barrels of gasoline.

The Lucy was tied up at the old Yacht Club pier at Pemberton, two docks away from the Nantasket boat pier.

CONTINUES TRIP

Hulls of both ships were damaged, but no one was injured. The Mayflower was able to continue her scheduled trip to Boston.

A crew from the Point Allerton coast guard station was rushed to the scene of the collision, lest the accident prove a second such disaster as occurred in June, 1933, when the Merchants and Miners liner Fairfax and the gasoline

Stocks Firm After Sell-Off

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—Profit-selling hit the stock market today and knocked down leaders fractions to more than $2 a share at the worst. After a weak first hour, though, sufficient buying support appeared to cut extreme losses in half in most cases and, near the final hour, there were a few conspicuous gainers.

Dealings were speediest in the opening slide. The pace slackened appreciably on the come-back.

18 FELLED BY FUMES IN MALDEN

Seven persons went to hospitals and 11 others were treated by doctors today after leaking ammonia fumes from a refrigerating plant in a store spread through apartments at 407-409 Cross street, Malden.

Only one of the total of 18 persons, Ronald Whitney, 13 months old, of Chester street, Malden, was seriously affected.

Overcome, he was rushed to Malden hospital, and there he was revived.

Others who went to the hospital were his grandmother, Mrs. Winifred Abbott, resident of the apartment block; Mrs. Roy Blake and her daughter, Betty, three; Mrs. Roy Blanch and her daughter, Josephine, 10, and Jackie Stewart, five, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Stewart.

Treated by doctors in the neighborhood were Mrs. Donald Whitney and daughter, Janice, 3; Ber-

HORTA, Azores, July 26 (AP)—The British pickaback seaplane Mercury, returning from her transatlantic test flight, arrived here today at 1:30 p. m. (11:30 a. m. Boston time) from Bolwood, Newfoundland.

Boy of 8 Human Torch

His clothes set afire by a match allegedly tossed by a playmate, six-year-old Joseph Thibodeau, Jr., of Trenton street, East Boston, was burned, perhaps fatally, in Chelsea today.

Newton Police Shift Looms

Widespread transfers in the Newton police department loomed today as Mayor Edwin O. Childs pushed his probe into gambling rackets with questioning of ranking members of the police force.

At the same time City Solicitor Joseph W. Bartlett announced, after a week of questioning uniformed members of the department, that "big shot" gamblers had steered clear of the Garden City.

It was reported that only the "runners" and small-time bookies had invaded the city, all of them relaying their business to the gambling czars in Boston.

In a partial report on the mayor's anti-gambling campaign Bartlett gave the city a clean bill of health in regard to vice resorts uncovered in the Brookline probe.

His aunt and his mother, Mrs. Hazel Thibodeau, rolled him in rugs and draperies and beat out the blaze.

The mother was painfully burned, but refused medical treatment.

The boy victim was taken to Chelsea Memorial Hospital by an autoist who saw the accident.

CONDITION CRITICAL

Doctors said young Thibodeau had second degree burns of chest, arms and right side.

His condition was reported as critical.

The boy and his mother had been visiting the aunt.

Scan Red Ship Here

Naval authorities today set a strict watch on the movements of the officers and crew of two visiting Soviet ships, tied up at a drydock pier in the Charlestown Navy Yard.

By secret order, either from Washington or from high naval officials here, a special police guard was thrown around the area adjacent to where the Soviet vessels are docked as soon as it became known that the Russian officers and crew had announced they would come ashore later in the day.

SPECIAL ROUTE SET

The two ships, Polyarni and Partizan, engaged in an oceanic hydrographic survey off the American coast, arrived here unexpectedly yesterday to refuel and reprovision.

For a time they were held below in the harbor until Washington had been consulted, but later were given permission to enter the navy yard.

The extraordinary police guard on duty about the ships have been instructed to see that the Soviet officers and men take a certain route through the navy yard when they come ashore.

DETOURS NEW WORK

The path laid out for them, it was learned, diverts them from all parts of the Charlestown naval base where new construction is under way and also detours them from sections where American naval armament and supplies are stored.

Civilian attaches of the navy yard noted that restrictions imposed had not been in force since World War days.

No such precautions were observed when the Jugoslavia naval cadet ship visited Charlestown a few weeks ago, nor when German, English and French cruisers paid courtesy visits here within the past two years.

Charlestown Navy Yard Turned Over To Adm. Tarrant

HAIL AND FAREWELL—Rear Admiral William T. Tarrant shakes hands with Rear Admiral Walter R. Gherardi as the former took over command of the Charlestown Navy Yard today.

Army Man Charges He Aided Accuser

MRS. JAMES SMITH, JR.

LT. COL. STEWART GIFFIN

NEW YORK, July 26 (INS)—Lieut. Col. Stewart E. Giffin, denying charges of alcoholic excess at his court-martial, pictured himself as the benefactor of the man who now accuses him.

Furthermore, he testified, Lieut. James Smith, Jr., his accuser, had once brought similar charges of drunkenness against a superior officer, but that he (Giffin), concluded that there was no basis for that accusation, either.

In July, 1935, he said he asked to have Smith made his adjutant, "although my superior questioned my judgment."

TELLS ENDORSING NOTE

He told of endorsing a note for $300 so that Smith could clear up some small debts.

Q—Did you help him otherwise?

A—Yes, he wanted to be transferred. I interceded for him and he was sent to Utah. Some time later he wrote that he was afraid he would be brought back to Camp Dix and discharged. I interceded for him again and he was transferred to Goshen. He and his wife stayed several days at my house.

Giffin's wife was to take the stand today in an attempt to refute the testimony of Smith's wife in support of charges that the defendant, intoxicated, fell to the floor while dancing at a party in March of last year.

WOMEN DEFEND COLONEL
Several women guests with whom the colonel danced during the evening already have come to his defense.

"I know he wasn't drunk," declared Mrs. N. B. Baker, "I don't dance with drunken men."

Mrs. Patricia Rew was asked if she had not assisted Giffin to his feet after he allegedly had fallen on the dance floor.

"How could I?" she replied. "I only weigh 104 pounds."

A declaration that she was an expectant mother at the time and would not have risked a fall with a drunken man was offered by Mrs. C. R. Ford.

Shift Yard Chief

Admiral Gherardi has been transferred to San Francisco as president of the general court martial board of that district and left Boston immediately after handing over his command here to his successor.

13-GUN SALUTE

In a statement issued after he had been formally inducted into his new post, Rear Admiral Tarrant declared he had been assured by Washington there would be no layoff for workers at Charlestown.

The change of naval command took place in the presence of all the uniformed and civilian forces at the yard and was marked by the traditional salute of 13 guns for outgoing and incoming admirals.

Present at the ceremony were Admiral C. W. Cole of the Portsmouth navy yard and Captain J. S. Barleon, chief of staff of the First Naval District.

NEW CHIEF MARRIED

The new commandant of the First Naval District married the former Miss Ruth Gibson, daughter of Rear Admiral William C. Gibson. They have two children, Miss Ruth, and William T., Jr., a graduate of Leland Stanford University.

DENIES Trespass AT OLD HOME

Mrs. Mary Di Marsh "Hannaford," who recently barricaded herself in the home of the man she had claimed as her husband, pleaded not guilty today in Quincy court to a charge of trespassing.

Despite her belligerent declaration last night when arrested that she had been tricked and would "tell the story when I get to court," she said nothing except to make her formal plea. The case was continued to July 29 and she was released in $100 personal recognizance.

A former housekeeper for Hannaford, whom the probate court at Dedham has ruled she never married despite her claim, she was arrested at the Hannaford home, Grove street, Braintree, when she allegedly went to the house against a court order.

Several weeks ago she had barricaded herself in the same house until a court case against the man she claims to be her husband was decided in his favor.

"I didn't go to his house to trespass," she cried after her arrest, police said.

"My husband called me over to the window to ask me why I notified the police. When I went to the window he yelled for the police to arrest me for trespass. It's conspiracy."

Why Marryin' Waiter Worries

Will tall and willowy blonde Betty Morrison of Regent street, Roxbury, wife No. 3 of Allan Proctor, Boston "marrying waiter," stick by him when he gets out of jail?

That was the thought uppermost in his mind today as he was notified in the Deer Island house of correction that wife No. 2, Lydia Cory of Grant street, New Bedford, had filed suit for annulment of their marriage on July 7, 1934.

Meda Ashworth, 25, of Fall River, the first girl to succumb to the admitted charm of the suave Proctor, has already severed the marital tie via the divorce route.

SOME CONSOLATION

Proctor had some consolation as he looked forward to the end of his two-year term down the harbor when he mused on the cryptic message Betty sent him before he was committed to jail.

"He was my first love," she tearfully told Roxbury court attendants, "and I really was deeply in love with him when I married him in 1937."

"But even if he gets out of this mess, I don't know if he'll be able to talk himself back into my good graces, in spite of his gift of gab."

TIED OF BEING NEWS

Proctor's "gift of gab" doesn't mean a thing to Lydia Cory, however, as she went in to seclusion today at her New Bedford home.

"I'm sick of being front page news with Proctor," she snapped at reporters, "and I'll be glad when all this publicity is over and I'm rid of him."

Meda Ashworth

WILL SHE STICK?—Less than slightly interested that two of his three wives are through with him, Allan Proctor, Boston's "marrying waiter," is worrying about Betty Morrison of Roxbury, wife No. 3. He'll find out, but definitely, in January, 1940, when he is freed from jail.

Plane Dance

Pick-a-Back Rival To Shag Shown

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—A new rival for the "shag," the "pick-a-back" dance is here.

It was demonstrated by two girls before 400 dance instructors at a convention of the Dancing Teachers Business Association.

The dance included a series of tap steps and acrobatic movements and ended with one girl resting on the back of the other—emulating Britain's new transatlantic pick-a-back plane, the Mercury.

Cape Honeymoon For 80-66 Couple

NEW BEDFORD, July 26 (AP)—Thomas Eccles, 80-year-old retired weaver, today took his 66-year-old bride, the former Mrs. Susanna Heald, on a three-weeks' Cape Cod honeymoon.

They were married last night by Chaplain Charles S. Thurber of the Seaman's Bethel.

AMORY Girl, Brother SHARE RICHES

Miss Grace M. Amory, attractive Boston, New York and Palm Beach post-deb, and her brother, Charles M. Amory, Jr., divide the proceeds of their mother's $500,000 life insurance trust fund, according to word today from New York.

The mother, Mrs. Gladys Munn Amory Pulitzer, wife of Herbert Pulitzer, youngest son of the famed newspaper publisher, died July 12 at La Jolla, Cal., after a long illness.

She previously had been married to the late Charles Minot Amory, Harvard, 1912, son of the late Francis I. Amory of Boston.

Charles Minot Grace M. Amory Amory, who died in October, 1936, was divorced by Mrs. Pulitzer in 1924, after 11 years of marriage.

A short time later she inherited $3,000,000 from her mother, Mrs. Charles Munn of Washington, and then she became the wife of Pulitzer.

In her will, Mrs. Pulitzer left a residuary interest of undetermined value to Pulitzer.

Officer Denies Love, Waits Job

GREENFIELD, July 26—The appeal of former Patrolman J. Richard Laurie from a dismissal order of the Board of Selectmen rested today with Judge Abner S. McLaughlin after a 12-hour review of the case in district court.

Laurie, hero-cop in a gun battle with a Sing Sing convict, was dismissed from the department for his alleged association with Miss Louise V. Dyer, 21-year-old Greenfield heiress.

Contending that the action of the selectmen was illegal and not based on credible evidence, Laurie denied he ever had asked Miss Dyer to meet him, that he had sat with her in a parked car, or that he had borrowed money from her. The former patrolman's wife supported her husband's allegations.

Miss Dyer also appeared, repeating testimony given at the recent hearing before the board of selectmen. She declared she was never in love with Laurie, "only infatuated."

Mountain Peak Scaled by Conant

Pres. James Bryant Conant of Harvard was in a party which made the season's first ascent of 12,085-foot North Twin mountain, third highest peak in the Canadian Rockies, word from Jasper National Park to Harvard revealed today.

They scaled the mountain in a five-hour climb.

North Twin Mountain rises out of one of the most inaccessible wilds of the Rockies and its peak has been scaled only four times, the last time eleven years ago.

The lofty peak is the rugged apex of the Columbia icefield, reputed to be the largest and most forsaken glacial ice mass south of the Arctic circle.

The area is so inaccessible that few, if any photographs of the peak itself, have ever been made, even by Canadian government surveyors.

President Conant was accompanied on his hazardous climb by Philip A. Johnson of Norwich, Ct., a close friend.

Washburn Tops 16,206-Ft. Peak

CHISTOCHINA, Alaska, July 26 (AP)—Returning to civilization, Bradford Washburn, Cambridge, Mass., explorer, today reported the successful ascent of Mt. Sanford.

He described it as the highest peak hitherto unclimbed on the North American continent.

Washburn reported that, accompanied by Terrace Moore of Los Angeles, he reached the 16,206-foot summit at 9 o'clock the night of July 21, after many days of hardship.

With Mrs. Moore, he said, they earlier made an unsuccessful attempt to reach the top on July 18, but were driven back from an altitude of 14,500 feet by heavy snow storms.

"Our route of ascent," he said, "was entirely planned and followed by means of a detailed series of aerial photographs taken a year ago."

DOGS, HORSES USED

Both horses and dogs were used in bringing up supplies to a base at 6000 feet, Washburn said, which was reached only after crossing a wide expanse of bogs and marshes. The dogs were used to a height of more than 14,000 feet and the final dash to the top and return was made with skis, just ahead of a threatening storm.

Washburn said he and Moore remained on the summit 25 minutes, making photographs.

"We had a great deal of trouble with the horses in the bogs," Washburn said, "but the dogs succeeded in swimming the Copper river, as well as navigating even the worst of the swamps, pulling their sledges faithfully even while still many miles from snow."

23 DAYS OF RAIN, SNOW

"The weather was wretched throughout the trip, with rain or snow at some time during every one of the first 23 days of July."

On one occasion, Washburn said, a big bear attacked the horses, but the animal was shot by Adam Sanford, a native Indian member of the party.

Washburn, whose expedition was sponsored by the Institute of Geographical Exploration of Harvard, reported he planted the flag of the National Geographic Society on the summit of Mt. Sanford.

Mother, Bride In Fall Recover

A Chelsea mother and her daughter, the latter a bride of but a month, today were recovering from injuries suffered when they miraculously escaped death in a 30-foot plunge from a third-floor piazza at their home.

They are Mrs. Rose Singer, 52, who suffered possible internal injuries, and her daughter, Mrs. Shirley Cooperstein, 21, who was treated for a sprained back and wrenched ankles. The couple live on Shurtleff street, Chelsea.

The daughter was saved more critical injuries when an unidentified man saw the piazza railing collapse as he passed and reached out to aid in breaking the woman's fall.

2 MINERS KILLED

VAL D'OR, Que., July 26 (Canadian Press)—Avalanche of rock-laden muck killed two men when it suddenly caved on a 10-man crew sinking a new shaft at Perron gold mines, 18 miles east of this Athabasca district mining center.

Granfield Weds His Secretary

SPRINGFIELD, July 26—Judge William J. Granfield of district court, former congressman, and Miss Elsie I. Bemis, for years his personal secretary, were married today at the Hampden estate of Dr. Charles L. Furcolo, prominent Springfield surgeon.

The ceremony at the beautiful summer estate was performed at noon by C. Morris Calhoun, clerk of Springfield court.

It was the second marriage for both and only a few intimate friends were present. Judge Granfield's wife died nine years ago. The bride divorced her first husband several years back.

Following the ceremony, the couple left by automobile for New York, where tonight they will be entertained by Congressman John J. O'Connor, chairman of the House committee on rules.

Tomorrow, at noon, the bridal pair will sail from New York on the liner Washington for Ireland, where they first will visit the home town of Granfield's parents, Dingle.

Then they will tour Ireland, Scotland, France and Italy, returning here August 15 to reside in the Granfield home in Park drive.

Insanity Price Of Boy's Aid to Mad Brother

Insanity is the price being paid by a 16-year-old Lynn youth for his unwavering devotion to a brother, two years his senior, the Boston Evening American learned today.

In a case that has no parallel in medical history, so far as local doctors and psychiatrists can learn, the younger boy, completely dominated by the elder since their childhood, followed him into insanity through association.

At Danvers State Hospital, where both are now confined, it was said today that the elder brother is in an advanced stage of insanity, a victim of dementia praecox, and it is feared he never will regain normalcy.

Hospital officials are hopeful, however, of dispelling the tragic clouds from the younger brother's mind and the youths have been separated for the first time in their lives, to break up the too constant association.

It is the diagnosis of physicians that the mental ailment overtook the elder and dominant brother slowly, and the younger boy's balance was influenced by the gradually warping mind.

Gas Fells 18 In Malden tha Abbott, 9, and Marjorie Abbott, 12, sisters of Mrs. Whitney; George Blake, 6; Leroy Blake, 8, and Mabel Blake, 5; Mrs. William Stewart and son, Robert, 12, and two Blanch children, Richard, 5, and Henry, 14.

The leak was in the Weiner chain store on the first floor, and firemen and police were called by the manager, Samuel Guild of Brookline, when he detected the fumes.

Deputy Fire Chief William R. Moran donned a gas mask, went into the basement and shut off the ammonia line.

Upstairs, Mrs. Abbot also detected the fumes; as she did so her grandson, Ronald Whitney, gasped and collapsed. She ran to the window and screamed for help, attracting Patrolman Ralph Gray, who was on duty outside in Suffolk square.

Nantasket Boat Bumps 'Gas' Tanker

tanker Pinthis crashed off Scituate in a fog.

In the explosion and fire which resulted then, 49 persons lost their lives.

FOG DAMAGE HEAVY

Today's fog, besides causing the Mayflower-Lucy accident at Pemberton, was responsible for other maritime mishaps and damage all along the New England coast.

It paralyzed coastwise shipping and delayed or prevented arrivals of transatlantic liners.

On Cape Cod, two commercial fishing vessels were aground, with coast guard boats hurrying to their assistance.

Off Gloucester, the mackerel schooner Uncle Sam, grounded in yesterday's fog, was slowly pounding to pieces.

FISHING BOATS AGROUND

The two boats aground on Cape Cod were both loaded with fresh fish.

On a shoal in the "graveyard of the Atlantic" off Monomoy Point was the New Bedford dragger Palmer's Island, and less than 15 miles away the 64-foot oil screw vessel Winifred Martin of New York with 11 men was helpless on Nauset Beach.

Flood Sweeps Greater Boston

skies of yesterday and early today were "just an interlude" with more threatening conditions impending.

Heavy rains and electric storms were reported generally through southern and middle Atlantic states, he said.

The rapid rise of the Charles River at Dedham was augmented by partial collapse of a dam at Charles River Village, between Dover and Needham, state engineers reported.

The main dam, 80 feet long and of cement construction, was holding at Charles River Village, they said, but a heavy boxhouse float, riding down river on the crest of the flood, had hit and demolished a smaller, 30-foot dam, built of wood.

As this dam gave way, it released a hugely increased flow of water downstream.

The river continued to pour over the main dam at a near-record three-foot depth.

GAUGE SUBMERGED

At Dedham, the pumping station's river gauge was completely submerged, preventing further readings.

Eastern avenue, Needham street, Jersey street and other thoroughfares adjacent to the river were flooded, some to a depth of three feet.

All available police officers were assigned to special traffic duty, guarding flooded highways, keeping auto travel one-way and warning motorists that heavy vehicles might be endangered by undermining of roadbeds and washing away of road shoulders.

Officers from the state department of health supervised the chlorination of Dedham's water supply at the Dedham Water Company's pumping station.

Four out of nine roads out of Needham were covered with water and closed to traffic—Great Plain avenue, Kendrick, Charles River and Mill streets.

The Concord River was within two feet of its 1936 record level. The Senate was hurrying through consideration of the plan to allocate $500,000 of the highway fund to the public works department for road repairs.

COLLISION—Members of the crew of the Nantasket Boston steamer Mayflower look down at the damage done to the vessel, in a collision with the gasoline tanker Lucy today at Pemberton.

Starch Making Animal Studied

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

WOODS HOLE, July 26—The discovery that one small, barely-visible water animal can make, in 25 days, more starch and fat than the whole United States could eat, was described today at the marine biological laboratory, summer workshop of American scientists.

The animal is chilimona, a flagellate, so termed from the fact that he swims by lashing with fine, hair-like arms called flagella. Scientists got interested in him because, unlike virtually all other living things, he is able to make starch and fat without light. Starch and fat are two of the three essential foods. Protein is the other.

The amount chilimona can make, said Dr. S. O. Mist of Johns Hopkins University, is theoretically prodigious.

"For example," Dr. Mist wrote in the Collecting Net, a scientific journal, "in one of our experiments, which was started with a single individual, and continued 25 days, if all the individuals had been kept cultured, there would have been at the end of the experiment enough to reach a total volume of 612,000,000,000 cubic meters."

"This is enough to cover the whole state of Massachusetts with a layer approximately 90 feet thick. The starch in the mass would have been approximately 19 billion cubic meters and the fat 6 billion cubic meters."

"This is sufficient to supply every individual in the United States with some 70 tons of starch and 20 tons of fat."

Of more immediate practical importance than the dazzling food figures, the Johns Hopkins experimenters have uncovered evidence that chilimona make a queer substance which causes him to reproduce so enormously, but which also has the power to stop his wild growth.

It is a two-way chemical, which has not been isolated.

Postmaster Denies Aiding Carroll Fund

SOUTH PARIS, Me., July 26 (AP)—Postmaster Eugene P. Lowell, back at his desk after several days away from town, denied today he headed a citizens' committee raising funds for the defense of Francis M. Carroll, facing trial August 1, on a charge of murdering Dr. James G. Littlefield last October.

Postal regulations, Lowell said, forbid him from soliciting funds for any cause.

A friend recently asked him, Lowell declared, to permit use of his name on a committee "seeking to assure Carroll a fair trial." At first he declined, Lowell said, then assented with the understanding no use was to be made of his title as postmaster. Lowell said he had taken no part in any attempt to raise funds for Carroll.

Paul N. Dwyer, 18-year-old South Paris schoolboy, confessed to and now is serving life imprisonment for the physician's slaying.

N. J. to Brookline Court Trip in Vain

Harold Brockelband of Essex Fells, N. J., made a trip to Brookline today only to lose out when a court complaint charging dangerous driving was issued against him.

His car is alleged to have struck and injured Mrs. Elizabeth Hull, Brookline, on July 15.

The complaint is returnable September 7, which means another trip from Essex by Brockelband.

Man Dangles 17 Floors Up something funny in what he did and laughed uproariously.

About 1:35 p. m. three firemen in an adjoining room, pleading with him not to jump, appeared to anger the man, and he shook his head violently.

Then, poised on the narrow, 18-inch ledge, with his hands outstretched as if he were all set to dive, he caused a cry from the crowd:

"He's off!"

But he wasn't. He changed his mind again and lighted another cigarette after he regained firm footing on the ledge.

Firemen said they were afraid to rig a net under him, fearing he might jump the minute they started getting it ready.

Emergency squad policemen, however, carried scaled ladders and a net up inside the hotel.

From the street came concerted roars from the massed thousands peering upward.

For long periods, when there was no action above, the crowd would be virtually silent except for scattered voices with such shouts as:

ADVICE FROM MOB

"Make up your mind!"

"Go back!"

"Don't jump!"

No traffic was able to move for two blocks on either side of Fifth avenue. Few pedestrians were able to worm themselves through the throng.

Men constituted the greatest number of spectators.

Many women, passing by, were seen to look up, then go on their way hurriedly.

Tobin Heads For Capital

City Hall was an effort to get a "little free advertising."

In a retaliatory broadside at Ickes, Mayor Tobin labelled him as "Impulsive and erratic" and vehemently denied he ever had the $1,125,000 grant offered him.

The mayor will arrive in Washington fortified by the support of former Mayor Frederick W. Mansfield, who came to his defense today against the Ickes charges.

"Mayor Tobin is right, asserted Mansfield, "and Mr. Ickes is wrong."

SPEED SOUGHT

"Mayor Tobin never applied for a new city hall. I made application under PWA for a new structure, but the plans were never completed for submission to Washington, and the matter was dropped."

"Plans were afterwards drawn up for a new building and sent to Washington but I left office before any action was taken."

When Mayor Tobin gets to the Capitol he will attempt to expedite his request for PWA approval of repairs to city hall which will involve an estimated appropriation of $50,000 in federal funds and $18,000 by the city.

U. S. Railroad Outlook Is Studied

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW
Financial Editor

In the past few weeks, the railroad industry has been the subject of much study and discussion. The outlook for the future is being studied by many of the leading financial and business circles. The industry has been hit hard by the depression, and the outlook for the future is being studied by many of the leading financial and business circles. The industry has been hit hard by the depression, and the outlook for the future is being studied by many of the leading financial and business circles.

DIVIDED OPINION

The large volume of selling orders the market encountered in recent weeks has led to the belief that anything else of a more evenly divided opinion regarding the immediate outlook for prices. Those who, on the other hand, believe that the outlook for prices is bright, apparently have their doubts as to the market's ability to push along in a straight line. And for the most part, their doubts are composed of forecasts of investors and investment trusts.

There is a general feeling of pessimism in the market, and the outlook for the future is being studied by many of the leading financial and business circles. The industry has been hit hard by the depression, and the outlook for the future is being studied by many of the leading financial and business circles.

More about the railroads, an other push for higher freight rates is expected by some Washington observers. It will not call for a blanket increase, however, but will be limited to specific commodities. Also, there is more talk here of rechartering legislation next session. With the skeptics saying that remedies now are not doing much more than postpone the day of government ownership.

The outlook for the future is being studied by many of the leading financial and business circles. The industry has been hit hard by the depression, and the outlook for the future is being studied by many of the leading financial and business circles.

U. S. Export Balance Favorable

By CECIL B. DICKSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP)—The United States showed a favorable foreign trade balance in the first six months this year, the largest in the first half of any year since 1921. Based on the Commerce Department's preliminary figures, the country's export trade for the first six months of 1933 was $1,000,000,000, compared with $900,000,000 for the same period last year.

Exports in the period aggregated $1,000,000,000, a jump of $100,000,000 from the first six months last year. Imports, however, were $900,000,000, a decrease of $100,000,000 from the same period last year. The net result was a favorable trade balance of $100,000,000.

Sinclair Lewis Wins Applause as Actor

By PEGGY DOYLE

Not content with being an internationally famous novelist, lecturer, playwright, reporter and actor, Sinclair Lewis last night added to his laurels by becoming a first-rate actor in his own play, "It Can't Happen Here," in the Town Hall, Cohasset.

In the presence of a capacity audience that greeted him with breath-taking applause, Actor Sinclair Lewis became the country's "Straw-hat" Actor No. 1 when he assumed the character of smalltown editor, Darnley Jemson.

Not only Mr. Sinclair's valet, Joseph, but his brilliant wife, Dorothy Thompson, emerged after the show that Mr. Lewis is nearly as expert on the stage as he is between the covers of a book.

"Good, amazingly good," was Miss Thompson's comment on her husband's thespian abilities. "I've enjoyed every minute of it here at Cohasset, observing my husband undergo the transformation of becoming an author, but I must confess I'd rather die than go through it again."

Throughout the evening, there was talk of a fall opening in Broadway for "It Can't Happen Here" with Mr. Lewis in the title role.

At the same time, professional talk with the author, Sinclair Lewis, at night, Lewis was amazingly national, personable, casual and not personally critical.

At the conclusion, Miss Thompson, after a moment's pause, rapidly became a good enough to be heard. He has a keen sense of humor and a keen sense of humor. He has a keen sense of humor and a keen sense of humor. He has a keen sense of humor and a keen sense of humor.

Helens Feud? Nay, Nay Boys

NEW YORK, July 26 (INS)—With a crown of blue and purple flowers on her head, the queen came down the gangplank of the Europa, smiling sweetly upon the enraptured multitude which paid homage to the royal lady returning with her eighth Wimbledon championship.

The queen—democratically known as Mrs. Helen Wills Moody—did not lose her serene smile when inquisitive scribers asked whether she was feuding with Helen (the second) Jacobs.

"No," answered the queen, attired smartly in flower-printed black dress and beflowered black straw hat. "We're just tennis rivals—that's all."

"This is another case of people trying to find some excitement besides the regular competition."

MAY PLAY AT ESSEX

With great patience, Helen the first, explained that pictures which showed her head turned away from Miss Jacobs as they shook hands after the Wimbledon final had given an erroneous impression.

"They were taken just as we were separating," said the queen. "I saw a few pictures in London papers in which we were facing one another."

What were the queen's court plans?

"I'm going to stay in New York for two weeks," said her 35-year-old majesty. "In a few days I'll start to practice at Forest Hills, and then I'll decide exactly when I'm going to play."

"I'm certain I'll play in the women's nationals, both singles and doubles, and I may play in the Essex tournament next month."

"My back is just a little sore. It's nothing very serious. I strained it a bit in London. I'm having some treatment, of course, and it should be gone soon."

If the queen does deign to display her talents late in August in the Essex at Manchester, Mass., it should mark the initial encounter between Helen and Helen, since La. Jacobs injured her ankle and bowed painfully but gamely in the Wimbledon women's final. Miss Jacobs has already announced her intention of competing.

Their presence in September in the National singles at Forest Hills will tax the stands.

Mrs. Palfrey Victorious At Sea Bright

SEA BRIGHT, N. J., July 26 (AP)—Virginia Wolfenden of San Francisco scored the first major upset of the 21st annual Sea Bright invitation tennis tournament today by eliminating fourth-seeded Dorothy Andrus of New York in a second-round match.

Miss Wolfenden, holder of the Missouri valley singles title, ousted the seventh-ranking American woman player out of competition, 7-5, 6-2.

Other seeded players in the women's division came through with defending champion Alice Marble routing Helen Germaine of New York, 6-2, 6-1; Dorothy Bundy conquering Eunice Dean, 7-5, 6-3; and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan trouncing Theodora Smith, 6-1, 6-2.

SECOND ROUND, WOMEN'S SINGLES: Alice Marble, San Francisco, Calif., defeated Helen Germaine, New York, 6-2, 6-1.

Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan, Cambridge, Mass., defeated Theodora Smith, also Andrus, 6-1, 6-2.

Miss Sylvia Herasim, France, defeated Mildred Hines, New York, 6-3, 6-1.

Helen Federer, Stamford, Conn., defeated Norma Tashiro, New York, 6-4, 6-2.

Mr. Charles B. Stark, New York, defeated Florence Lehoultier, Old Westbury, N. Y., 7-5, 6-3.

Dorothy Bundy, Santa Monica, Calif., defeated Eunice E. Dean, San Antonio, Tex., 7-5, 6-3.

Virginia Wolfenden, San Francisco, Calif., defeated Mrs. Dorothy Andrus, New York, 7-5, 6-2.

Only once did Queen Helen balk. That was when asked if her plans also included marriage.

"I won't answer," said the queen.

Adamick's Plea Refused

CHICAGO, July 26 (INS)—The Illinois Athletic Commission today was on record as refusing the request of Jimmy Adamick, Detroit heavyweight, that a one-year suspension against him be vacated. The suspension was ordered following an unsatisfactory fight by Adamick against Jack Trammell here on June 8. Adamick arose from a knockdown to stop Trammell, but one of the judges testified the match was a "fake."

Maurice relies on persuasion. But Curley used to shoot batches of coupons down his workers' throats. The head man of the public works would rise and say with a pussycat smile that he would handle 2000 tickets, whereat Curley would harrumph in his throat, chuckle a dry chuck and say, "Put him down for 5000 with no refund." It was fun to watch the P. W. chief slump in his seat with a die-hard-old-butgers air and wearing a sticky grin as though his gutters had busted. Still, by more merciful means, Tobin is approaching a sell out.

MR. BOSTON

Joe DiMaggio Had Line on Dickman { Young Sox Star Has Real Class

By JACK CONWAY

JOE DiMAGGIO was the first major league ball player outside of the Red Sox fold to recognize the tremendous pitching possibilities of youthful Emerson Dickman, who held the Indians to three hits as he won the first game of the Monday double-header.

Mr. Boston

During the Yankees last visit to Boston, DiMaggio smashed out a double against Wagner, a Red Sox rookie, who has since been sent back to the minors. As DiMaggio reached second base, Joe Cronin moved over close to the Yankee slugger.

"Has the kid got anything?" Cronin asked DiMaggio in a low tone, so that Wagner could not overhear the conversation.

"Not a thing," replied DiMaggio. "You have a great looking prospect in that kid Dickman. He appears to have everything."

There was a grin on Cronin's face as he shuffled back to his position at shortstop. DiMaggio had confirmed his opinion that 23-year-old Emerson Dickman was one of the most promising looking pitchers in the American League.

When Dickman recently defeated the Tigers, even though obliged to give way to Archie McKain in the ninth inning, I went along with the opinion held by Cronin and DiMaggio. There were 29,000 eye-witnesses who held a similar opinion after Dickman turned back the heavy hitting Cleveland team.

Dickman Is Ice Under Fire

DICKMAN is ice under fire. He is the calmest person in the ball park when enemy batters are making their attack.

Before an important ball game even experienced pitchers are jittery, and don't shake off their attacks of nerves until they are on the mound in action. These attacks of nerves cause players to burn up energy unnecessarily, and often make them less effective in the tight spots of a game.

Dickman does not look as if he has any nerves. At noon yesterday Joe Cronin told Dickman he was pitching the first game of the vital double-header against Cleveland. A few minutes after Dickman was told he was going to pitch a young sports writer dropped into the Sox dressing room. The scribe walked over to where Dickman was sitting and expected to see the youngster a bit fretful over the important assignment he had just received from Cronin.

"Sit down," said Dickman to the young reporter, whom he has known since the spring training season, "and tell me about your latest girl."

The reporter, who was planning to talk baseball with Dickman, found himself very much on the defensive as the young finger continued to toss light, good natured questions at him.

An athlete who has a sense of humor and who can think of other things than his particular act just before a big event gets a mental let down that is helpful to him.

DICKMAN is surprised at his own baseball greatness. He honestly didn't think he would become a regular Red Sox pitcher this year.

"I would rather you use me to finish out ball games," Dickman once told Joe Cronin. "I am not yet ready to take my regular turn in the box."

The pressing need of pitchers made it necessary for Cronin to gamble with Dickman as a regular hurler, and it looks as if Joe has won.

Cronin didn't like taking Dickman out of the box in the ninth inning when he defeated the Tigers. Joe felt that if Dickman went the full nine innings against a team like Detroit and came out of the game a victor that he would gain confidence in himself.

Dickman later went in against the Browns and won over the full nine. After beating Cleveland in a three-hit game, Dickman knows he is as good as the major league grade. He will, of course, have his bad days in the mound as well as his good ones, but over the season he should be in more ball games than he loses. With experience he should develop into one of the star pitchers of the American League.

Brief Career in Pro Baseball

DICKMAN CAME to the Red Sox after a brief career in the minors. When Dickman entered professional baseball after starring as a college player with Washington & Lee, he went to Rocky Mount for a few months, and then spent a season with Little Rock. A year and a half is all the professional baseball Dickman had behind him when he reported for spring practice this year.

Dickman has traveled a long way in baseball, and at a rapid pace. On the diamond, Dickman does everything naturally. He even can hit, which is unusual for a pitcher.

When on the mound, Dickman does not hurry. He goes through his paces easily, and only bears down with everything he has in the pitching line when it is necessary to do so. He has a fine assortment of benders, and an excellent change of pace.

During the present Western invasion, Dickman will receive ample opportunity to prove his pitching ability.

Chicago, St. Louis, Detroit and Cleveland. It is the big push that Joe Cronin hopes will end with the Red Sox either leading the league or in a position to move out front during their next home stay.

Emerson Dickman should help the Sox cause a great deal.

Walter Johnson Barnstorming

By the Associated Press

IF BURGESS WHITEHEAD has his way he will be back with the Giants in three weeks. . . His side feels much better. . . His mother would rather he wait another month, but "Rats" (as they call him down in eastern North Carolina) wants to get back in harness real bad. . . Hank Whitehead, sports writer of the Richmond (Va.) News Leader, a couple of days in New York, press boxes last week and didn't like the way they score hits and errors up here. . . He says they're too stingy with their errors and too lenient with their hits. . . We've had the same complaint, Hank, both from New York and Boston.

WALTER (BIG TRAIN) JOHNSON still is packing 'em in. He's barnstorming around with a Washington semi-pro team and usually tosses 'em up in batting practice.

Remember Riley Smith, Cliff Battles and Charlie Malone of Redskins' football fame? . . . Well, they're playing ball for the same soft drink club. . . Al Schacht packed 'em in at Minneapolis with the greatest crowd there in five years. . . Al says the majors want him back but that he had to reject all offers this year because he's booked solidly in the minors. . . Quite a feller, that Schacht and a great "bring 'em in" attraction wherever you put him.

JACK STRINGHAM, All Rocky Mountain Conference fullback from Brigham Young University in Utah, wore out five headguards smacking the line last season. . . Since quitting school, Jack has tried professional boxing and now has signed with the Brooklyn Football Dodgers. . . Pittsburgh and San Bernardino still deny it, but we say the Pirates have been fooling around with the idea of training in Miami next spring. . . They may change their minds and stick to California, but there have been things in the air, and we doubt that even Bill Berwanger, president of the Pittsburgh Club, will deny it.

UNLESS LOU GEHRIG perks up, he is unlikely to bat in his customary 100 runs this season. . . News item: Terry took new talent for Giants. . . Giants can't agree among themselves if Dizzy Dean's pitching comeback is a complete success. . . They want to wait and see what Dizzy can do against them in the Polo Grounds. . . One reason why Whitehead didn't get to compete in the charity game at Chicago Aug. 31 is that he is going on the air for eight weeks as a sort of "Major Bowes" in a charity fund program.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION FANS are getting a big kick out of the way the head gassers of the Cardinal chain system are guessing wrong. . . They let Pittsburgh get Johnny Rizzo from their Columbus farm. . . Instead of Rizzo, the Cards picked Enos Slaughter, who has been something of a bust. . . The Denver Post baseball tournament which opened July 21, is one of the oldest in the country, starting in 1915. . . More power to Tony Gahagan, who is up against the toughest guy he ever faced.
